Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Annals of Chemical Medicine, Including the Application of Chemistry to Physiology, Pathology, Therapeutics, Pharmacy, and Hygiene, 1879 I have the honour of laying before the Medical Profession and the general scientific public the first volume of a new periodical, the principal object of which will be the advancement of the sciences named on its title by means more especially of the chemical method. The several means by which it is hoped to contribute to the attainment of this object will be the publication of original researches to be carried out in physiological, pathological, chemical, and pharmaceutical laboratories in Great Britain and abroad, and the communication and diffusion of the results of the progress of chemistry as far as it relates to medical objects which has been made on fields, and communicated through channels, not commonly accessible to medical readers. In this endeavour it had to be borne in mind that some of these results might in their original form be too technical to be readily appreciated, and might therefore admit of some interpretation and adaptation...
