Reviews

It is one of the best books. Indeed, it really is a play, nevertheless an amazing and interesting literature. It is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding, once you begin to read the book.

Of these, seventy-nine, or less than one fourth, went in with jugs and cans, and this despite the fact that part of the time covered by these figures, i.e., from 12.30 p.m. to 2 p.m., includes the ordinary dinner hour of the working classes, so that the extent to which the ordinary public-house is a house of call, or a centre for social drinking becomes at least approximately apparent. The extent to which the custom of treating still prevails among the working classes was...
